DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 47-53 are objected to because of the following informalities: the recitation of "the chamber" (at least, claim 47, line 24; claim 52, line 2) is presumed to be --the cylindrical interior chamber--. There are two chambers recited in claim 47 (see lines 2 and 15) which have been presumed to be the same chamber. If they are different, then they should be clearly delineated with specific reference to the claimed "chamber" in line 24 (claim 47) and line 2 (claim 52). Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 40-53 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-37 of U.S. Patent No. 6,634,865. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the instant application are merely broader recitations of that claimed in the '865 patent. Corresponding elements include (but are not limited to) the housing having an interior chamber with a rotor mounted inside; a cam pivotally mounted around the rotor; a pumping chamber within the interior chamber and having an inlet arc area, a discharge arc area, and a seal area extending at least about 30 degrees between the inlet arc area and the discharge arc area; a plurality of vane elements supported in a plurality of radially extending slots formed in the rotor; a sideplate mounted in the interior chamber (corresponding to the end plates of the '865 patent) and having a first surface adjacent the rotor of the vane pump, wherein the surface includes channels in fluid communication with the inlet and discharge arc areas for supplying pressurized fluid within the radially extending slots; and valve means associated with first and second fluid restrictors for selectively controlling a volume of fluid communicated to the interior chamber. The depending claims also include the same limitations as the depending claims in the '865 reference.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
- Szeszulski et al. (6,655,936) teach a rotary vane pump with plates separating the low to high pressure regions of the vane pump.
